

FOREST FEVER (An Australian Romance Classic)

Too tough for her own good! Felling timber was no job for a woman, but carrying on with her fathers Tasmanian logging business after his tragic death was just what Riley Jones was determined to do, despite the opposition she encountered from virtually all sides. And if that meant keeping her admittedly volatile temper when she dealt with arrogant Freyn Devereux, she'd do it, however much it cost her in angst. But was the price too high, once she'd fallen for him, for her to even think about paying? An Australian Romance Classic from the island state of Tasmania.
