

The Monroe Doctrine: In Its Relation to the Republic of Haiti (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from The Monroe Doctrine: In Its Relation to the Republic of Haiti With the construction of the Panama Canal and the consequent change of commercial lines the importance of the Caribbean Sea and the Gulf of Mexico to the United States is enormously enhanced. With this change of commercial lines the Island of Haiti and San Domingo, in the Caribbean Sea, has become of supreme importance to the United States. This book is in no sense of the word a study or a philosophical treatise. It is simply a statement of the present situation of the Republic of Haiti and our relation to it under the Monroe Doctrine, a statement that is made for the purpose of giving our people some information as to this little known but most important and strategic island. The general substance of this little book is contained in an address delivered at Philadelphia, April 3, 1914, before the American Academy of Political and Social Science.
