

Lectures: First Series (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Lectures: First Series
The Compatriots Club, a non-partisan body, was constituted in March 1904 with the object of advancing the ideal of a united British Empire, and of advocating those principles of constructive policy on all constitutional, economic, defensive, and educational questions which will help towards the fulfilment of that ideal. During the first year of its existence the Club has displayed considerable activity. Papers on one or other of the Imperial topics in which it is interested have been read and discussed at its private meetings, and two successful series of public Lectures have been held under its auspices. Moreover, members of the Club have addressed meetings in different parts of the country. The present volume consists of papers read and discussed at the Club meetings, as well as of Lectures, of which short summaries have already appeared in the Press. About the Publisher
