

Undertones: A Sweetwater Canyon Novel -- Michele's Story

Balancing a career and a relationship is never easy, and its even harder when you are on the road and everyone wants a piece of you. Becoming a member of an all-woman acoustic band on the bluegrass festival circuit was certainly not what Michele Scott had envisioned for herself as a young music major. A pop star is what she set out to be. Instead, she found her soul in an upright bass and the mountain music that some called hick. Three weeks before Michele's band sets out on their first tour she collides with the mesmerizing and irresistible Jason Blackstone, a man whose startling blue-green eyes and commanding presence make her insides melt like a spent candle. But Michele's last romance ended in heartbreak over her choice of career. She worked far too hard to risk trying to manage a career and life on the road with a long distance relationship. Her music gives her life, yet her heart yearns for something more. Can a girl have it all? Trusting Jason is a risk that may give her everything she wants or it will close her heart forever.
