

By the Sword Divided: Eyewitness Accounts of the English Civil War (Sutton Illustrated History Paperbacks)

This anthology uses original sources to provide eyewitness accounts of the English Civil War, conveying what it felt like to fight at Edgehill, or watch your house being ransacked or find your brother fighting on the other side. Over 50 participants are heard and placed in context. Among the sources used are the memoirs of the Verney family, Lucy Hutchinsons memoirs of her husband, Colonel Hutchinson, Hoptons narrative of his campaign in the west, Elias Archers True Relation of events of 1643, the Fairfax family correspondence, Bulstrode Whitelockes memorials of English affairs under Charles I and Charles II, Richard Symondss diary of the marches of the Royal Army, and numerous collections of State Papers, diaries and letters of the period.
