

Music and Conflict Transformation: Harmonies and Dissonances in Geopolitics (Toda Institute Book Series on Global Peace and Policy)

How far can the relationship between music and politics be used to promote a more peaceful world? That is the central question which motivates this challenging new work. Combining theory from renowned academics such as Johan Galtung, Cindy Cohen and Karen Abi-Ezzi with compelling stories from musicians like Yair Dalal. The book also includes an exclusive interview with folk legend Pete Seeger. In each instance, practical and theoretical perspectives have been combined in order to explore music's role in conflict resolution. The book is divided into five sections. The first, Frameworks, reflects in-depth on the connections between music and peace, while the second, Music and Politics, discusses the actual impact of music on society. The third section, Healing and Education offers specific examples of the transformative power of music in prisons and other settings of conflict-resolution, while the fourth, Stories from the Field, tells true stories about music's impact in the Middle East and elsewhere. Finally, Reflections encourages the reader to consider a personal evaluation of the work with a view to further explorations of the capacity of music to promote peace-building.
