

Czechs and Germans 1848-2004: The Sudeten Question and the Transformation of Central Europe

Vaclav Houzicka describes the development of the Czech-German national controversies from the mid-nineteenth century, through the establishing of the Czechoslovak Republic in 1918, to the beginning of the twenty-first century. He focuses primarily on the tragic end of the nations coexistence in 1938-1945 and the differing Czech and German understandings of the reasons for the removal of Germans from the Czechoslovak Republic after 1945 in the latter part of the twentieth century. Houzicka clarifies the relationships between Czech, German, and Sudeten-German identities within the international and social-economic context of the twentieth century.
