

Orange is the New Lavender: A Lesbian Romance (50 Shades of the Lesbian Rainbow Book 2)

The lesbian love affair deepens in this second story in the 50 Shades of the Rainbow Series. Strong lesbians that care about each other and the women in their lives and turn from friends to family. It takes more than a tree falling on her home to stop Maggie McPherson from pursuing her lesbian romance with the elusive archaeologist who may turn out to be the woman of her dreams! Deep in the foundation of the damaged building is a clue to the mysterious lives of the women who may have cooked for patrons of the Speakeasy back when it was illegal to sell alcohol. Old secrets are revealed as the cleanup proceeds and the lesbian romance deepens and changes, and those old secrets become new strength and lead to new happiness. Beatty also takes center stage here. We find out the horrible story of where her daughter came from and where she has been and how this child will be integrated into the lives of these lesbians.
